6. LINK Update:

Anyone can visit the website www.t3sc.org/link which has the Link page.

Bill Burgoine was able to give the meeting some information about the 'White Paper' which has been published by the Government: Liberating the NHS – Equity and Excellence. The four main areas covered are:

1. Putting patients and the Public first,
2. Improving healthcare outcomes,
3. Commissioning for patients and increasing democratic legitimacy in health,
4. Regulating healthcare providers.

There are some clear underlying principles in the 'White Paper' and these are:

- The NHS should be centred around patients,
- The NHS should deliver quality and outcomes that are among the best in the world.
- Unsafe and substandard care should not be tolerated,
- Discrimination should be eliminated and inequalities reduced,
- Clinicians should drive what happens in the NHS,
- The NHS should be more transparent with greater accountability for results,
- Citizens should have more say in how the NHS is run,
- The NHS should work better across boundaries (e.g. with local authorities),
- The NHS should be more efficient and less bureaucratic,
- The NHS should be free from political interference.

The new Medical Director of NHS Tameside & Glossop, Bal Duper was able to add some clearer explanations to the meeting of what we might expect from the reallocation of the tasks currently undertaken by the NHS Tameside and Glossop (the PCT), in particular the new GP Consortia functions. He agreed with the members that Patient Participation Groups provide a good local mechanism for engaging with patients and the importance of appropriate support and guidance for these PPGs in order that they might be effective. He said it was important for practices to have active PPGs and that consortia could insist as a requirement to join a consortia that all practices must have a PPG.

9. AOB

Concerns were raised about the recent news concerning Avandia and Avandamet. It was stressed that patients should not stop taking their treatment and letters will be going to all patients concerned or they will be invited to come and discuss their treatment.
